Watercolour;

the painting rules and how to break them!

with John Haycraft

LEVEL:
All

COST:
$745
+ $10 materials

Spend the week painting, brush in hand, from the first moment to the last. Be prepared to be bold and make mistakes, combined with repeated practice and experimentation, to gain new understanding. Painting inside in the mornings and plein air in the afternoon (weather permitting) you will learn the essentials of composition, contour drawing, learn to look critically and 'find' your picture in the landscape, the power of greys and how to use complementary colours, perspective and how to get it right and most importantly, how to break the rules and paint with freedom and emotion.

John Haycraft initially trained as a perspective artist and over the years developed his interest in watercolour as a medium for expressive painting, particularly well adapted for plein-air. An experienced teacher, John is grounded in sound technical knowledge, encouraging his students to look for the mood and atmosphere in a painting. Beyond his extensive teaching, John is the author of 3 books as well as a regular exhibitor and award winner. John is represented by Maunsell Wickes at Barry Stern Gallery in Paddington.
